

MRS. MAYBRICK A FREE WOMAN

Once Sentenced to Death For Poisoning Her Husband.

HISTORY OF A FAMOUS CASE

UNREMITTING EFFORTS OF A LOVING MOTHER.

Truro, Cornwall, England, July 2.—Mrs. Maybrick is free. She left here at 11:45 a. m. today on her way to France.

Mrs. Maybrick, who was Miss Florence Elizabeth Chubb, member of a well known and prosperous southern family, was married July 22, 1881, in St. James Church, Piccadilly, to James Maybrick, of Liverpool. She was then eighteen years old. Her husband was over forty years of age. In the spring of 1889 Mr. Maybrick became ill and in a few days he died. His brother investigated his death and charged Mrs. Maybrick with the murder of her husband. A long trial followed, and a number of doctors swore that the deceased died of arsenical poisoning. The defense proved that for twenty years Mrs. Maybrick had been a confirmed user of arsenic and that he took doses large enough to have killed a dozen ordinary men. Mrs. Maybrick was eventually sentenced to death by the judge, Sir Fitzjames Stephen, who spoke for two days in charging the jury. He said it was impossible for them to find her not guilty in the face of the medical evidence. The judge died some time later in a madhouse.

Life Work of Mother.
At the time of Mrs. Maybrick's conviction, her mother, the Baron de Boques, was unremitting in her efforts on behalf of the prisoner. She succeeded in getting her death sentence commuted to penal servitude for life, and finally has obtained the freedom of her daughter, to whose release from prison she had devoted her life. The baroness was aided by influential friends on both sides of the Atlantic. In 1900, after the death of Lord Russell of Killowen, Chief Justice of England, a letter which had been written to Mrs. Maybrick in 1895 was discovered. It showed he was convinced that she ought never to have been convicted, and it has been generally understood that all the recent American ambassadors to the court of St. James have done everything possible to aid Mrs. Maybrick's pardon.

The fact of her probable release was used as a reason for securing the postponement of trial last year of lawsuits bearing on Mrs. Maybrick's interest in land in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia until she was personally to testify. If she was not able to testify in these suits, Mrs. Maybrick and her mother would have lost all title and interest in the thousands of acres involved in the case.

Removed From Prison.
On February 14 last Home Secretary Aker-Douglas, replying to a question in the house of commons, confirmed the reports which had been in circulation, that Mrs. Maybrick had been removed from Aylesbury prison to a convalescent home, where she would be permitted to remain until the summer, when she would be allowed her freedom. The home secretary said a license had been granted for Mrs. Maybrick under the penal servitude acts. The transfer of Mrs. Maybrick from a penal prison to a quiet country home constituted an extraordinary precedent on the part of the British authorities. It was due to the mediation of the Duchess of Devonshire, who as a visitor to Aylesbury prison for many years had taken a personal interest in Mrs. Maybrick and finally succeeded in obtaining a mitigation of her punishment to the extent of her being allowed to spend the last six months of her confinement outside of the prison walls.

Taken to Convent.
Mrs. Maybrick's imprisonment was not terminated with the clanging of doors at Aylesbury prison, where she spent more than fourteen years of her life. It closed behind the doors of the white convent of the Sisterhood of the Epiphany in this little town, with the black-robed sisters softly uttering their blessings and good wishes for her future. With two companions, Mrs. Maybrick entered the carriage of Miss Delmyle, secretary of the sisterhood, and was driven rapidly to the small station fourteen miles away, where, exchanging good-byes with her companions, she boarded a train and started on her journey to France. She will not go to America until her presence there is considered imperatively necessary.

Watched by Curious Crowds.
The little town has taken deep interest in this international figure. Crowds

Be Wise 10 DAYS

When the food fails to keep you well

Change

for sickness is a cry of Nature for the right elements to build and rebuild the body properly.

A 10 days' change from the old diet to a new, works wondrously skillfully selected. Try

A Little Fruit,
A Saucer of GRAPE-NUTS and Cream,
A Piece of very hard Toast,
A cup of well made POSTUM COFFEE.

Nothing more for breakfast.
At midday the same and add
2 soft-boiled eggs.

Then eat a meat and vegetable dinner at night. Such a change will work some surprising results for health.

"There's a Reason."

"World's Fair Exhibit, space 104, Agricultural Building."

TOGO'S FLEET IN GOOD CONDITION

Visit of Naval Attaches and War Correspondents.

IMPERIAL PRINCE A SAILOR

JAPS SHOW NO SIGNS OF NEU-
VOUS STRAIN.

Nagasaki, July 19.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Admiral Togo today received the passengers of the steamer Manchuria, (members of the Japanese fleet, naval attaches and newspaper correspondents), on board the flagship Mikasa.

The fighting admiral greeted the naval attaches of several nations in his private cabin and then received the thirty correspondents in the bare, unadorned wareroom, where rests a piece of a Russian shell which was the only hit sustained by the Mikasa in her five months' commission. It struck the battleship's mainmast Feb. 5, tearing the thigh of Lieutenant Matsumura, a photograph of whose wounds, a gruesome souvenir, stands behind the piece of missile.

The silent, gray-headed admiral, with shy, browned, clever face and the strong jaw of a born leader, was similarly clad in a white tunic (adorned with an admiral's straps and the Order of the Rising Sun), and Turk trousers. He expressed himself honored by the presence of the newspaper men, who replied briefly with congratulatory speeches.

Trip of the Manchuria.
The Manchuria left her anchorage behind the Japanese naval base at 6 o'clock this morning, steamed outside the guardship line, in full view of the fleet and passed Zentsu bay, where the white tents of the transport camp encircled the cove, the Sampan fringed beach, the fleet of junks and the supply schooners anchored off the end of the long "godowns" (warehouses) at the base of the bluffs. There are now only a few troops at the station, which is used merely as a commissariat depot for the northern army. The Manchuria sighted a few buoys and the remains of a boom defense, ten miles of which had been thrown across the islands and the channels likely to be the route of an expected Russian torpedo attack or attempt to interfere with the debarkation of troops. The gunboats and torpedo craft stood guard behind a mass of cogs, cables and wire netting, which, owing to the heavy seas, were with great difficulty kept intact. There were other evidences of the thoroughness of the defense of detail of the Japanese precautions.

When the Manchuria reached Taiten bay she was unable to proceed further south for fear of possible mine fields and turned on her course, passing a gray flotilla of torpedo boats edging strovers and six torpedo boats edging towards the leaden sea to relieve the guardships off Port Arthur and constantly passed transports and colliers.

On Board the Flagship.
At 2 p. m. the Manchuria met the 23rd torpedo boat destroyer and two torpedo boat destroyers under the lee of a small islet in the vicinity of the Japanese base, a tell-tale smoke cloud being visible over the distant hills. The grim fighting ships were battle-stained and in their war paint, but they were absolutely unharmed. The 23rd torpedo boat destroyer, the 23rd, only received the members of the Japanese fleet.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

TOGO'S FLEET IN GOOD CONDITION

Visit of Naval Attaches and War Correspondents.

IMPERIAL PRINCE A SAILOR

JAPS SHOW NO SIGNS OF NEU-
VOUS STRAIN.

Nagasaki, July 19.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Admiral Togo today received the passengers of the steamer Manchuria, (members of the Japanese fleet, naval attaches and newspaper correspondents), on board the flagship Mikasa.

The fighting admiral greeted the naval attaches of several nations in his private cabin and then received the thirty correspondents in the bare, unadorned wareroom, where rests a piece of a Russian shell which was the only hit sustained by the Mikasa in her five months' commission. It struck the battleship's mainmast Feb. 5, tearing the thigh of Lieutenant Matsumura, a photograph of whose wounds, a gruesome souvenir, stands behind the piece of missile.

The silent, gray-headed admiral, with shy, browned, clever face and the strong jaw of a born leader, was similarly clad in a white tunic (adorned with an admiral's straps and the Order of the Rising Sun), and Turk trousers. He expressed himself honored by the presence of the newspaper men, who replied briefly with congratulatory speeches.

Trip of the Manchuria.
The Manchuria left her anchorage behind the Japanese naval base at 6 o'clock this morning, steamed outside the guardship line, in full view of the fleet and passed Zentsu bay, where the white tents of the transport camp encircled the cove, the Sampan fringed beach, the fleet of junks and the supply schooners anchored off the end of the long "godowns" (warehouses) at the base of the bluffs. There are now only a few troops at the station, which is used merely as a commissariat depot for the northern army. The Manchuria sighted a few buoys and the remains of a boom defense, ten miles of which had been thrown across the islands and the channels likely to be the route of an expected Russian torpedo attack or attempt to interfere with the debarkation of troops. The gunboats and torpedo craft stood guard behind a mass of cogs, cables and wire netting, which, owing to the heavy seas, were with great difficulty kept intact. There were other evidences of the thoroughness of the defense of detail of the Japanese precautions.

When the Manchuria reached Taiten bay she was unable to proceed further south for fear of possible mine fields and turned on her course, passing a gray flotilla of torpedo boats edging strovers and six torpedo boats edging towards the leaden sea to relieve the guardships off Port Arthur and constantly passed transports and colliers.

On Board the Flagship.
At 2 p. m. the Manchuria met the 23rd torpedo boat destroyer and two torpedo boat destroyers under the lee of a small islet in the vicinity of the Japanese base, a tell-tale smoke cloud being visible over the distant hills. The grim fighting ships were battle-stained and in their war paint, but they were absolutely unharmed. The 23rd torpedo boat destroyer, the 23rd, only received the members of the Japanese fleet.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

Admiral Shimamura, chief of staff of the standing squadron, and his fine-looking staff of 400 officers and men entertained the guests on the flagship. The condition of the Japanese bluejackets after five months' tense waiting and anxiety was as good as new. The admiral was marvelous. From the admiral to the ships' boys there were no signs of nervous strain.

EXPECT DROP IN VEGETABLES

Dealers Think Corn and Other Produce Will Cheapen.

FISH PLENTIFUL FOR FRIDAY

HENS STILL REPORTED TO BE SCARCE.

Another drop in the price of green corn and other vegetables is looked for today. The western market of late has been dropping rapidly and farmers are bringing their products into market in fairly large quantities so the prices naturally fall as the supply increases.

Tomatoes are a trifle higher than they were a few weeks ago when the supply was plentiful. The last carload was lost en route and the fruit ripened considerably. The best bunches naturally rose in price as they were rather scarce. A carload of green bananas is expected here tomorrow. A carload of green California fruit arrived in the city yesterday morning, consisting mainly of peaches, plums and pears, with a small quantity of apples. There will probably be a contingent of Texas nuts unloaded by a local commission house today.

A fine lot of private pond brook trout was received from Idaho yesterday. It will be in fairly large variety for the Friday trade. Dealers are still waiting for poultry to them, preferring to hang on to it at present.

Yesterday's retail quotations:

Meats.
Beef, 10c to 20c per pound.
Veal, prime, 12c to 20c.
Mutton, 10c to 15c.
Pork, 10c to 15c.
Spring lamb, front quarter, $1; hind quarter, $1.50.
Dressed lamb, 12c to 20c; lamb chops, 10c to 15c.
Belgian hares, live, $1.50 per pair.

Fish.
Sturgeon, 15c.
Red snapper, 20c.
Sea bass, 15c.
Cod fish, 10c.
Dorset, 15c.
Idaho trout, 20c to 40c per pound.
Black bass, 20c per pound.
Haddock, 15c.
Halibut, 15c.
Striped bass, 20c.
Whitfish, 15c.
Mackinaw trout, 20c.
Sole and flounders, 12c.
Cattail, 15c.
Shad, 15c.
Mackerel, fresh, 20c; salt, 15c to 20c.
Smelts, 15c per pound.
Crabs, 20c to 30c each.
Shrimps, 40c per pound.

Poultry.
Hens, live, 10c; dressed, 15c per pound.
Spring chickens, dressed, 20c per pound.
Broilers, frozen, 20c per pound.

Dairy Products.
Butter, creamery, 20c to 25c per pound; ranch, 15c to 20c per pound.
Eggs, 20c to 25c per dozen.
Cheese, Utah cream, 12c to 20c per pound; eastern, 10c; Limburger, 20c; imported Swiss, 40c; brick, 20c.
Milk, cream, 15c; skim, 10c; strained, 20c per pint.

Vegetables.
Potatoes, new Utah, 30c per peck.
Cabbages, Utah, six pounds for 25c.
Cucumbers, 25c each.
Radishes, 1 1/2c per bunch.
Cauliflower, 40c per bunch